The maximum number of junior/community college semester hours that can be applied toward a degree at Mississippi College is 65, so choose courses from above totaling no more than 65.

Notes:

1) Sixty-five hours applied towards graduation from Mississippi College must be earned at a senior college, regardless of the number of semester hours taken at the junior/community college level. This means that the maximum number of junior/community college semester hours that can be applied toward a degree at Mississippi College is 65. The last 33 semester hours must be taken at Mississippi College.

2) Day students must take one to four semesters of Chapel. See Undergraduate Catalog for specifics.

3) Students must demonstrate proficiency in basic English grammar, usage, and writing skills by earning a passing score on the Writing Proficiency Exam.

4) See Mississippi College Undergraduate Catalog online for requirements for specific major.
