Our Camp Season Wraps Up

Our camp season included an FCA leadership camp in Jackson, Miss., at Belhaven University, both men's and women's basketball camps at Mississippi College and we wrapped up our camp season by traveling to Black Mountain, N.C., for a multi-sport all girls camp.

Justin spoke at the basketball camp at MC and two young boys accepted Christ after he presented the Gospel. Justin came home and shared how one of the kids came up and asked him, "How do I ask Jesus in my heart?" He was so excited to lead him to Christ and to follow up with both of the kids' parents the next day. He gave them resources to help them disciple their sons. One dad was so excited and grateful that Justin would share the news about what his son had done and give him resources to help his son grow in his new commitment.

While at the MC women's camp, I spoke every morning about the system God established known as sowing and reaping. I encouraged campers and staff alike to make an effort to plant seeds throughout the day at camp. While working my defense station I asked some middle school campers what we had gone over the day before. I was expecting them to tell me, "On-ball defense!" but instead they began telling me about how they were planting seeds of encouragement while they played games. They made my day! I also shared the Gospel and even though I did not have anyone specifically come talk to me about making a decision, I could tell they were really listening to me as I shared. I know seeds were planted.

While at Black Mountain, Justin served as the video coordinator and I served as the assistant huddle leader coordinator. God stretched both of us, but we both learned so much and experienced his goodness as we saw many come to Christ and rededicate their lives to Christ. Leading huddle leader training was new for me and challenged me in many ways as a leader. The responsibility of preparing the huddle leaders for the week is a little overwhelming, but God had put on my heart that we needed to make sure we covered everything in prayer. We prayed the last night of huddle leader training and asked God to move in specific ways. One prayer request was that we would see his glory fall on the mountain that week and that we all would experience his presence. His presence was overwhelming and all of us saw him move in power as girls came to know Christ and begin changing their attitudes. One girl at the basketball clinic had an attitude with the basketball coach and after the coach corrected her she walked out of the gym. The girl later came back and admitted she had received Christ a couple nights before that day in clinic and that she knew she had an attitude problem. She apologized and said she wanted to change but would need help. This is just one story of the many that gave their lives to Christ! We got to see first hand how they came in Monday and left changed Friday. Psalm 34:8 says, "Taste and see that the Lord is good." We definitely experienced his goodness on that mountain and at the other camps God allowed us to be a part of. Thank you for your prayers as we walked through this camp season!

Pictured left is Justin and me with former MC volleyball player Courtney Creamer. This is what she had to say about being a huddle leader: "Being a huddle leader at FCA camp is such an AMAZING experience! You literally get to see God change the campers' lives in the span of a few days. You not only get to be a part of that change by pouring into their lives all day but you yourself get to be so overwhelmed and refreshed with the presence of the Holy Spirit. The past two summers that I have been involved have been so worth it because I know that I will get to see my campers in heaven some day!"
