We love being at Mississippi College! With all the negative news stories in sports recently, we are thankful to bring you good news about how God is working in the hearts of student athletes and coaches in sports. We are constantly thanking God for his faithfulness to this ministry. Without his hand, we could accomplish nothing for His kingdom.

Over the Thanksgiving break, we traveled with the basketball teams to Texas. These trips are great opportunities to have conversations with the players and coaches. We participate in all of their meetings to gain respect for what they go through during the season. This helps our credibility and gives us a platform because they realize we understand what they do. During a film session, we all crowded in a room and I spoke to the girls about what our identity should be rooted in. Every girl was focused on the words coming out of my mouth. I could tell they were hungry to hear the truth about their identity. These opportunities are precious and led to a conversation with one of the girls.

Once the students were back from the break, we rewarded them with the league championship party we promised them during the semester. We launched a new competition this semester that challenged students to get more involved with community service and supporting other teams. The league was split up with guys on one side of the league and girls on the other. They earned points all semester and the girls won! Their prize was a bowling party. We love opportunities to have events that encourage Christian community, and this was the point of hosting this event. While there, a runner from the cross country team said to me, "You and Justin do such a great job with FCA. We never had anything like this at my school." This runner is one that would not get involved anywhere else on campus but has found her family through FCA. Her comment blessed me because it reaffirmed why we do what we do.

As we head into the Christmas season, we are excited about what is to come and have great anticipation as we prepare for the spring. We have great plans for next semester that include changing our leadership structure to help our leaders better use their gifts and abilities for the kingdom of God. Please pray for us and our leaders to be refreshed over the break so we will come back focused for what God has in store for us next semester. Thank you for your support!

May God bless you and make His face shine upon you,

Meet the women's basketball team at MC! Before season started, we did teambuilding activities to promote team cohesion. This picture was taken right after we had finished our activity.

The girls' soccer team took full advantage of the free bowling!

Soccer player, Hannah Langley, received the Bumblebee award on 11/21/2011 for being named ASC Sportmanship player of the year.
