Each year, the Office of Global Education hosts the Celebration of Culture: an event that promotes the wide array of cultures that are represented here at Mississippi College. Student leaders don traditional cultural attire and organize a table to represent their nations, with traditional food, folk art, celebratory videos and photos, games, and souvenirs. In under two hours, students are able to "travel the world" and learn about the cultural diversity represented in the student body at Mississippi College.

Celebration of Culture 2010 showcased twelve of the many countries represented at MC: Japan, Ethiopia, South Korea, Brazil, India, Cameroon, China, France, United States, Canada, Kyrgyzstan, and Nepal. In addition, the Mississippi College Table Tennis Team, ranked 4th in the nation, showcased their athleticism and skill with an exhibition during the Celebration.

Over 150 MC students, faculty, and staff attended the event, including Dr. Lee Royce, president of Mississippi College. Dr. Royce was excited to see such a diverse range of students, all learning from one another and developing friendships: "This (Celebration of Culture) provides a wonderful opportunity for international students to meet each other and to experience different cultures. It's also a wonderful opportunity for Americans to meet a wide variety of students from different cultures. It's really quite exciting."

On behalf of the Office of Global Education, we wish you a happy new year!

Fall 2010 was an exciting and successful time for us. To begin, we brought in a new staff member, Andrea Haynes, and expanded our programs. Second, Jenny Price, Intensive English Program Coordinator, led the program in our best semester ever: We graduated 23 IEP students into academics. Finally, Huan Qiu (Ken) coached our table tennis team to yet another regional championship in the Dixie Division Tournament. The team is currently ranked 4th in the national mid-season rankings.

Thank you for joining us in celebrating all our achievements this past semester. Enjoy this issue of MOSAIC!

MC INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS ADVANCE STUDIES IN PH.D. PROGRAMS

*Carrie Reeves
Assistant Professor, Art*

The Office of Global Education at Mississippi College proudly fosters the continuing education of several outstanding international students after they graduate from Mississippi College.

International students not only face the common challenges a typical college student encounters when leaving home to earn an education, but they also face a significant linguistic and cultural barriers. Most international students experience a period of uncomfortable and frustrating adjustment—eating new foods, transitioning to a new culture, learning a new transportation system (or lack thereof), and losing close proximity to friends and family. This combination of factors makes the transition from home to a new university quite colorful.

For this reason, the Office of Global Education salutes each graduate of Mississippi College and celebrates those who continue their education at other universities in doctoral and PhD programs. From the time international students arrive, the Office of Global Ed warmly opens its doors to international students, helping them excel as students under the outstanding team of professors and administrators at Mississippi College. ## IEP BOASTS A SUCCESSFUL TERM

Andrea Haynes Coordinator, Int'l Programs

The Intensive English Program finished another successful semester this past fall. Jenny Price, Coordinator of the program, stated, "Last semester was one of the best semesters we have had since I came to work at MC; we saw a strong community of learners develop and the most growth in English proficiency yet."

The program educated 36 students across all aspects of the English language: reading, writing, listening, and speaking. IEP also provided students with cultural programs to enhance co-curricular learning. Students participated in three separate activities: (1) a tour of the state capitol of Mississippi and traditional southern lunch, (2) a day of entertainment at the Mississippi state fair, and (3) formal etiquette training. At the end of the semester, IEP graduated 23 students into academics at MC.

For the spring 2011 semester, IEP welcomes 23 new students, increasing the total spring enrollment in IEP to 35 students from China, Nepal, Russia, and Turkey.

STUDENT MENTORING PROGRAM CONTINUES TO IMPROVE

*Huan Qiu
Staff, International Center*

The Office of Global Education launched its mentoring program fall 2008 in order to help international students succeed academically. The mentoring program helps students in the following areas: improving their grades, adjusting to consistent academic study, and understanding course content.

The Office pairs struggling students with current international students who act as mentors. Fellow international students provide the most help to struggling students for they understand the adjustment to U.S. academics, and they are able to help the students in their native tongue. In order to be chosen as a mentor, students must have a history of academic success, strong communication skills, and pleasant personalities. With the help of mentors, the numbers of students with academic problems has decreased greatly. For example, in the undergraduate program, there are less than five students who have problems with their GPA.

During spring 2011, the mentoring program will partner with the school of business, opening an international section in the finance and accounting lab where mentors will offer help Mon and Wed nights. Through this initiative and continued improvements, we look forward to seeing the mentoring program continue to improve the success of international students.

PREPARATIONS BEGIN FOR INTERNATIONAL FEST

Assistant Professor, Art*

While international students bring unique cultural backgrounds to Mississippi College, their artistic talents and skills usually remain hidden. The International Festival gives students the chance to share this specific aspect of themselves and their culture with the Mississippi College community.

Although the Office of Global Education hosts various events throughout the year, honoring international holidays and promoting fellowship among students, the International Festival is its only performance-oriented event. It is also the largest international event on campus. Many members of the MC, Jackson, and Clinton communities attend the festival, gaining appreciation for the abundance of multicultural talent and skill present at Mississippi College.

Held on Mississippi College's campus each spring, the International Festival boasts its fourth showing March 25, 2011. Cultural performances will include instrumental, vocal, and dance exhibitions, as well as a runway show that showcases traditional cultural attire. Afterward, the audience will be invited to a reception involving cultural food and drink. Contact Andrea Haynes at 601.925.7705 or ahaynes@mc.edu if you have any questions or are interested in performing.
