Comparison and Contrast of Grimm’s Fairy Tale Snow White

In the version that almost every kid learns, the Wicked Queen wants Snow White killed. She sends her out with one of her hunters who is supposed to kill her. He cannot bring himself to kill her, so he lets her go and kills a wild boar. He then brings the heart of the wild boar back to the Wicked Queen.

The Wicked Queen finds out that Snow White is still alive because she talks to her magic mirror. We all seem to know that phrase, “Mirror, mirror on the wall, who’s the fairest of them all?” That’s the magic mirror. Of course it answers, “Snow White.” The Wicked Queen is not pleased.

Snow White finds her way to the seven dwarfs. She lives with them.

However, Snow White does not know that it is the Wicked Queen, so she takes a bite. Even though the dwarfs chase the Wicked Queen and make her fall to her death, Snow White still dies.

However, a handsome prince comes and kisses her which brings Snow White back to life.

In Grimm’s fairy tale, the Wicked Queen does not want Snow White’s heart. She wants Snow White’s lungs and liver. When the boar’s insides are brought to her, she boils them and eats them, thinking that they are Snow White’s.

In Grimm’s fairy tale, it takes three attempts to kill Snow White. Each time, the Wicked Queen uses the same disguise, so Snow White must not be too smart.

In Grimm’s fairy tale, there are dwarfs and they do put Snow White into a glass coffin. However, a prince does not come and kiss her. A prince comes and he thinks that the body is beautiful, so he wants it. It is
