

Adjunct Clinical Faculty – Mental Health Nursing

Mississippi College School of Nursing

Mississippi College School of Nursing invites applications for adjunct clinical faculty in Mental Health Nursing. Adjunct faculty play a vital role in preparing skilled, compassionate nurses by facilitating student learning in clinical settings and supporting their development of professional nursing competencies.

Primary Responsibilities:

- Facilitate student learning and clinical experiences in assigned nursing settings.
- Supervise, guide, and evaluate students during clinical rotations.
- Grade associated clinical assignments and provide timely, constructive feedback.
- Evaluate student performance based on established course and clinical objectives.
- Collaborate with full-time faculty to ensure consistency in course outcomes and clinical expectations.

Minimum Qualifications:

- Master's degree in Nursing required.
- Active, unencumbered RN license in Mississippi.
- Minimum of one year of recent clinical experience in mental health nursing practice.
- Strong organizational, communication, and interpersonal skills.
- Must satisfy a criminal history background check.
- Must be able to meet and provide documentation of all health and compliance requirements as designated by the clinical facility.

About the School:

The School of Nursing at Mississippi College fosters a student-centered, collaborative environment that values clinical excellence, faith-based education, and innovation in nursing practice. Our accredited programs prepare graduates to provide compassionate, evidence-based care across diverse healthcare settings.

How to Apply:

Mississippi College uses Dynamic Forms for the employment application process.

To apply:

1. Create an account with Dynamic Forms.
2. Select the faculty application type.
3. Upload a cover letter and curriculum vitae.
4. Select "Apply for this Position" to get started.